VESSELS ARE SUNKReports Show Sub Packs
Now Ranging Farther
Westward(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—Germany intends to make the waters west of Iceland a major theatre in the battle of the Atlantic, informed sources concluded today, and battle for a decision there with wolfpack U-boat tactics.American interests said the intensification of the sea war in recent weeks may well herald even greater Nazi efforts as turbulent winter seas give submarines their safest hunting.Until the Atlantic fleet began patrolling the sea lanes with shoot-on-sight orders, the gravest under-sea threat to Britain's life-line was conceded in the immediate approaches to her ports, whose proximity to U-boat bases on the continent facilitated pack operations.

Going Farther Westward

Reports on recent sinkings, however, show that the packs are raiding farther westward, particularly in the few hundred square miles of ocean that lie south and west of Iceland, the easternmost of American defense bastions.

It has been in that limited area that U-boats have sunk four American-owned ships or Panamanian registry and the destroyer Reuben James. In those waters the destroyer Kearny and the navy oiler Salinas were damaged by torpedo attacks, and a submarine tried without success to sink the destroyer Green.The navy department officially acknowledged the heavy loss of life in the Reuben James sinking, announcing that all hope had been abandoned for the destroyer's mission—seven officers and 88 men.

Counting two previously known dead, this made the official toll 97.

Subject to Revision

The list, however, was subject to later revision, and the relatives of at least five seamen who had been reported lost declared that they were safe, thanks to last-minute transfers which took them off the destroyer's roster before she was sunk.Officials said that discrepancies would be corrected after all late personnel records had been checked.
No reduction in the number of dead was expected, however, because the remains of transferred men usually are filled by replacements.

NOT GUILTY, UNFORTUNATELY

America's plea to Germany's charge that this country has attacked it is "Not guilty." The United States has not attacked anyone. It wasn't in a position to attack anyone. Like Germany, it happened to become involved at some distance from its own shores, but unlike Germany it happened to be there in the interests of its own defense. The German lie is masterful under a regime that has made a science of prevarication, but the facts of military strength at the outbreak of the war show which nation planned to do the attacking in this war.

In some ways it is unfortunate that the United States cannot accept Germany's false charge as true. It would be almost a privilege to be able to say in behalf of the United States, "Yes, this country did attack Germany because Germany had reverted coldly and deliberately to force as an instrument of national policy and had to be forced back into line. It attacked Germany the way a policeman attacks a resident on his best who runs amok, not for the joy of combat nor to steal the victim's money, but for the protection of organized society."

The United States cannot say that. It must set its jaw and try to make up for lost time in the struggle between Germany and the countries that incurred its jealousy—the struggle that Germany never abandoned even though its intended victims thought they had ended it forever by adopting pious resolutions. The United States has no time to waste in talk. If it is lucky and lives up to its potentialities, there still may be a day, however, when its citizens can say to Germany or any other nation that reverts to naked force, "If you do that you will have to reckon with us because we don't believe in it."

PRICE CONTROL GIST

Next to banking, probably the toughest subject on the legislative roster is price control. No one really knows anything about it, and those who think they know something don't agree.

However, the gist of the price control proposal now sprouting in congress is relatively easy to grasp. There are two principal points being given congressional consideration.

First, there should be a ceiling on prices. Second this ceiling should not interfere with the prices wanted by any minority whose members would express their indignation at the polls.

This automatically excludes all farmers and all wage earners, particularly organized wage earners. In other words, it excludes the two primary sources of higher price impulses.

Until and unless news comes by carrier pigeon from Washington that congress has abandoned the attempt to control prices without hurting anybody in position to hurt congress, the peep out in the hinterlands may safely assume that prices will continue to rise just as long and just as high as the traffic will bear. This will be no different from the customary trend of prices in wartime; the only unusual thing about it is that this time the glibly believed that their government certainly was going to do away with the customary trend.

HAZARDS OF PREPAREDNESS

Officers attached to aviation branches were casually predicting more than a year ago that the accident rate in military aviation shortly would begin to rise and would be alarmingly high before the end of 1941.

Their prediction took into account that more flying would be done in the course of days than formerly had been done in months; that the planes flown would be faster and more difficult to handle; that many of the pilots would be fledglings; that even a thorough training program was no substitute for experience.

It is evident to every newspaper reader that the prediction is coming true with a vengeance. Accidents to army and navy planes have been reported with such frequency that it usually has been difficult to remember which one came last. Not only the factors that were foreseen have contributed heavily to the accident toll, but also the unreckoned factors of weather and suspected sabotage.

The same thing was reported from Germany when it was preparing its air force. Undoubtedly it happened, also, in Russia and Great Britain. In fact, it wouldn't be surprising if the most reliable information obtainable about aeronautical progress in the United States might be the accident toll.

PROGRAM NOTE

In the program notes on Tchaikovsky's "Concerto For Piano No. 1, in B Flat Minor, Opus 23" it must be recorded that the author's contemporaries didn't know what to make of the composition. Most of them didn't like it. Audiences liked it, however, and one way and another the composition survived a difficult birth and found its place in musical literature.

So today when you hear the newboy and the office canary and the bus driver and two dozen radio orchestras manhandling the opening theme and even catch yourself buzz-sawing away in what passes for a hum, perhaps it won't matter greatly if you don't know what's cooking. "Tonight We Love" is a dum de dum.

What's cooking is this: That a composer named Tchaikovsky is far and away the most popular tune writer in the United States today, with "Tonight We Love" being the most recent of his many smash hits. Approximately 25,000,000 persons would have another engagement if invited to listen to an all-Tchaikovsky program played properly by a good orchestra. They think it's swell, even if they don't know it was written to be played in B flat minor by a symphony orchestra. Some day they'll hear it played right, furthermore, and will think they've discovered Utopia, which is the way a lot of discriminating music fans happened to get started.

THE STARS SAY:

For Thursday, November 6

THE AUGURIES for this day point to very enterprising and ambitious plans with a tendency to engage in new and progressive projects, probably of major importance or public scope. These should be attacked with vim and assurance despite certain unstable, tricky or treacherous situations to be decisively vanquished by force, astuteness and determination. Finances may be threatened by sly methods or crafty manipulation and a peculiar feminine menace or antagonism of a public or community nature may be summarily dealt with.

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a very lively and enterprising year, in which new and important projects may attract public or community approval or cooperation, albeit there may be some form of feminine disapproval to the ambitious propositions in hand. With sound plans and constructive and determined policies there is no reason why definite success should not crown worthy objectives. But safeguard finances against treachery or crafty schemes.

A child born on this day should be energetic, ambitious, shrewd and perhaps crafty or given to expediency to gain its points. While clever and astute it may yet be caught in dubious entangling alliances.

APPLES ARE SAUVAGED

COLUMBUS, Nov. 5.—Ohio apple growers have salvaged $190,000 worth of fruit damaged by October winds through a special marketing program. Agricultural Director John T. Brown estimated today Brown expected the emergency program thus: Within 10 days after high winds whipped through orchards, all available department inspectors were in the field with special instructions to grade windfall apples promptly for shipment to emergency markets or processing plants for dehydration, conversion into apple butter or other uses.

The price received for windfall fruit averaged 8 cents a bushel and no loss through inspection delay was incurred in handling 449 car loads totaling 237,092 bushels.

Inspectors during the period also certified to federal and state marketing agencies 335 carloads of picked apples at from 75 cents to $1.05 a bushel.

Federal agencies are buying all apples offered Brown said, and estimated that 11 carloads would be shipped from Ohio this week.

Agricultural department figures show an average apple crop of more than 5,000,000 bushels valued at approximately $4,500,000.

DISCUSSES USE OF SEDATIVES

Clendening Says Continued Use Is Harmful

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.
"Is the continued use of bromides injurious in any way? Will stopping its use after taking it three times daily for two years affect the system?"

This is a bona fide inquiry from a reader. It seems strange that it should be bona fide. How could any adult suppose that taking a sedative three times a day for two years would not be injurious? Bromides, of all drugs, tend most prominently to accumulate in the and accumulate. Even after the bromide is stopped, it does not all get out of the system for months. Its elimination can be hastened greatly by feeding sodium chloride—common salt. For those patients who need to take bromides over a long period of time, it should be insisted that they take plenty of salt along with it.

Dr. Clendening will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Dr. Clendening has seven pamphlets which can be obtained by readers. Each pamphlet sells for 10 cents. For any one pamphlet desired, send 10 cents in coin, and a self-addressed envelope stamped with a three-cent stamp, to Dr. Logan Clendening, 235 E. 45th st., New York. The pamphlets

Serious Health Problem
Bromide intoxication is increasing in the United States and presents a considerable health problem. One of the great dangers comes from just such conditions as are revealed in this letter. A person keeps on taking bromides regularly and it becomes so natural that they fail to ascribe the poor health they suffer to the drug. In fact, they keep on taking more to get rid of the headaches, trembling, nausea, irritability and dizziness that the drug induces. A vicious circle is produced.

The bromide habit is usually started by a physician's prescription. This is most often given for the symptoms of chronic alcoholism or general nervousness. Even if the physician warns that the drug should not be kept up after the prescription runs out, the warning is often forgotten.

Bromide Rash

Then some day the bromide habit shows what the ugly skin eruption on the face is. Acne is an easy explanation, and local treatment is started with external applications. A patient came to me once with great pustular fungating eruptions on the skin of the legs. They had been there months, while she took her daily dose of bromides, not realizing it was a bromide rash.

The skin eruptions are, however, not the only signs of chronic bromide intoxication. One person suddenly goes into a confused mental state bordering on a comatose condition. Another will develop ataxia, or inability to walk steadily. When reaching for objects they will miss them by several feet. Another will be noticed for the slurring speech, and gait with feet wide apart. Plenty such patients are puzzles when admitted to hospitals because they are so dull mentally that they fail to give the one illuminating point in the history, their habit of taking bromides, and the family does not know about it.

Bromides stay in the blood a long time and tend to accumulate

Retired Farmer Says Ton Jon Is Best For Kidney Ailment

Says that all credit goes to TON JON for relief from having to get up so frequently to relieve kidneys; aches and pains have all disappeared.

One credit where credit is due and TON JON deserves more and more credit every day because the remarkable accomplishments of this famous herbal medicine are increasing steadily. The recoveries from long standing afflictions which it has given hundreds of people are sometimes astounding after other medicines have failed to give satisfactory relief. Mr. W. P. Slater, R. F. No. 4, Ravenna, Ohio, and a member of the Christian Church was relieved of his kidney trouble by taking TON JON for a very short time. Here is his statement:

For the last five or six years my kidneys have bothered me and it was not unusual for me to have to get up three or four times a night to relieve my bladder. Passages were difficult to start and when they finally did, they burned and smarted terribly. My back and legs pained all the time and my joints were stiff and sore.

CHURCH MUST GROW, SAYS EVANGELIST

Evangelist F. Lincicome, conducting a series of services at the First Friends church, is heard nightly by large numbers of Salem and neighborhood church members.

Services are held each night at 7:30 except Saturday. Music is in charge of Rev. Ralph Schurman.

The evangelistic message tonight will be on "Grieving the Holy Ghost."

In his sermon last night the minister declared that "the church must either go and grow or stay and starve. If it does go it must have goers. One reason that there are so many non-church goers is "because we have so many non-going churches."

"Moses made his choice by faith. Most people don't live by faith, they live by sense and sense always prefers the present to the future. This is why so many people would prefer a saxophone now, bought on the installment plan, that a golden harp to play on by and by."

BURNS WINS AGAIN AT SALINEVILLE

Miss Myrtle Strabley, Democrat making her first political venture, won the race for treasurer, defeating William Schubert, 366 to 215.

"STOP HARDER" IS PRACTICE KEYWORD FOR OHIO STATERS

Flashy Wisconsin Sophomore Leading Scorer In Western Conference

(By Associated Press)
COLUMBUS, Nov. 5—Ohio State university's grid squad practices this week have all the aspects of a "stop harder" movement.

No pun intended. Harder's first name is Pat and he's the western conference's leading scorer with 32 points. The flashy sophomore is coming to town for a workout at Buckeye stadium Saturday afternoon.

Carroll Widdoes and Fritz Heister, Ohio State scouts and assistant coaches, agree that Harder didn't get his reputation with a lot of fancy running. He's really good, they say, being an elusive, hard-hitting ball carrier.

Although Wisconsin has won only two of five games played, the Badgers have rolled up 91 points to the 89 score by Ohio State in winning four out of five. So the anticipated 65,000 onlookers may see a free-scoring contest Saturday.

Jack Graf, Ohio fullback whose absence from the lineup contributed greatly to the loss to Northwestern, is wearing a leather protector for his weak knee and is expected to be ready for service against Wisconsin.

Hot or Cold?
As for Wisconsin, the question is, "Will the Badgers be hot—or cold?" Because if Wisconsin is having one of its lukewarm days, the Buckeyes should take round one of the four-day battle for second place in the Big Ten. But if the Badgers are hot—

Harry Stuhldreier, director of Wisconsin's football fortunes, has seen the Badgers polish off Iowa, 23-0, and Indiana, 27-25. He has watched them go dizzy before Syracuse, which won, 27-20, last Saturday.

He also has been present at Marquette's 28-7 rout of the Badgers and at Northwestern's 41-14 victory. And as Stuhldreier thinks it over, all he can say is:

"I can't understand it."

Stuhldreier is inclined to blame Wisconsin's shortcoming on weakness in fundamentals.

SPORT CHATTER

BY HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—That wasn't a banner you heard howling during the past couple of days, only football coaches who figured the officials hadn't done right by their teams.... First, Florida's Tom Lieb complained about a timer who stopped the clock when he shouldn't. Then Northwestern's Lynn Waldorf claimed the Minnesota boys didn't stop themselves for the required second on that touchdown play. And Princeton's Tad Wieman said Franny Lee of Harvard had hit the ground two yards away from the touchdown that beat the Tigers, and shouldn't have been called safe on his slide.

Long Hits Wanted
Hearing the other day about the mysterious clippings regarding one Lou Long discovered in Lou Gehrig's scrapbook, Jim Finnerty of Bloomfield, N. J., recalled how Gehrig (Long for college reasons) played a game there once. Lou worked in the outfield and didn't get a hit. The manager paid him three bucks for his work, then said the club couldn't use him again because they needed a slugging outfielder.

Les MacMillan, the N. Y. U. runner who is our idea of the standout athlete in this section, may set another record in the L.C.-4-A cross country run November 17. He already has won two varsity and one freshman title and may become the first runner to make a clean sweep.... The American Bowling Congress sent out an S. O. S. for bowling slugs a few weeks ago and now complains that only about 200 terms have been received.

Today's Guest Star
Sid Benjamin, Hazleton (Pa.) Plain Speaker. "After watching Dean State whip N. Y. U. Friday night, it occurs to us that in the true spirit of Halloween the N. Y. U. eleven came disguised as football players."

Add kicking feats: Owen Price of Texas Mines averaged 55 yards on five punts against Hardin-Simmons and booted one 83 yards.... One reason for the Army team's improvement is that Clark Hinkle, who was All-America center at Vanderbilt a few years ago, is working with the scrubs. So is Frank Waddell, who was one of the team's most promising backs until somebody discovered he had played 12 minutes for Central college of Missouri.... Notre Dame fans give Frank Leahy credit for the year's best defensive job when he held the Irish to 10 points against Carnegie Tech.

Skeet and Trap Shooters Take It Easy Between Events at Salem Country Club Shoot

Proud of Three Championships, Three Trips To "The Grand", And Three Shooting Fields

Organized just five short years ago, the Salem Gun Club, an affiliate of the Salem Country club, points with pride to its roster of bang-up "bang-bang" artists and its modern, complete shooting facilities which include two trap fields, one skeet field, and a shooter's clubhouse on the Country club grounds.

But the real prides of the club are its scattergun specialists. This fall, in the club's third year of competition at the Grand American Trapshoot, Dr. and Mrs. Gail Rose carried off top honors in the national husband and wife trapshoot.

Another big feather in the club's well stocked cap was spring competition in the Ohio State tourney at Columbus when three local trapshooters won prizes in the same day. George "Pie" Baillie, smashing 58 out of 100 clay pigeons, was named state handicap champ, Nate Hunt, dismantling 97 out of 100, took third in the same event, and Dr. Gail Rose shooting in the Class B doubles championship, captured the victor's trophy. The Salem club is now an affiliate of the American Trapshoot association and its matches are recognized as official in the annals of this governing body. Membership in this organization is a special matter of satisfaction to the group who first visioned and planned for a club here. The list of original local shooters includes:

Nate Hunt, Dr. and Mrs. Gail Rose, George Baillie, Sr., Omar Rinehart, R. C. McAllister, D. B. McCune, Scott Chaschm, Joseph Berkimer, A. R. Silver, Twing Seeds and R. B. Carnes of Salem, J. A. Gilmore and H. R. Hamilton of Lisbon, and Joseph Close of Moultrie.

The club is now governed by a committee headed by George Baillie and including D. B. McCune, Twing Seeds, and Omar Rinehart. Dr. Rose, active in the extension of the club's activities and facilities, is president of the Country club.

Below—It would not be difficult for the gentleman on either side of Mrs. Rose to spot their quarry if they decided to go hunting. Both top the six-foot mark. At the left is Frank Carroll of Brecksville, former Grand American champion. He won the title with 100 straight, a feat which has been registered only three times in 40 years. At the right is Joe Eberly of Akron, one of the top street shooters in the state and the trainer of Patty Larson, former national woman's skeet champion.

Bill Hull stole the show in National league action on the Masonic alleys Tuesday night as he posed a 263 for high single game of the season and added 189 and 219 for a new total mark of 671.

Bill's maple crashing was no accident, as he has been a consistently high marksman since the opening of the season. In his opening night on the Grate alleys he potted a 693 and came back the next week with 624, including one game of 244.

Last night he led the Salem China to two wins over the Electric Furnace with a series of 999, 914, 921-2793. George Pugh and Art Shinn contributed 219 and 203 respectively. Lynn Ferguson led the Furnacemen with a 612 (193, 220, 197) and Ralph Phillips added a 244 in his last game, their team having games of 963 and 913.

It remained for the City Loan, safely in second place after two victories over the Grate Recreation five, to set the high team score of 2231 for the night with games of 625, 553 and 455. Bill Pauline led his team with 819 (193, 225, 200), and closely on his heels was Art Shinn with 229, 193, 182, 198, and Tom Reese, 171, 201, 223-198. Keith Harris had two games over 200 as Grates posted a 939 in their final game.

The Eagles kept out in front in this league by pushing the Masons off the alleys three times without any spectacular scoring. Although it lost two to the National Sanitary five, the Salem News held to a tie for third place with Grates, Pugh, posting a 235 in his first game.

Down on the Grate alleys the Pressmen of the Mullins league retained the lead by virtue of two wins over the Cost department.

The Inspection team held to second place although losing two to the Cabinets. Chic DeRow paced the former with a 608 (199, 218, 191).
